Beckie often tells us:

"When we come to the table only as our professional titles/positions at the organizations where we do paid work, we can create some good coordination and collaborative work. But when we come together bringing our whole self, full selves to the table, the possibilities are limitless."

A Different Lens on Leadership Development

AUDIENCE POLL

When a "leadership opportunity" comes up,
my FIRST reaction is:
☐ No, I am not a leader. It is not for me.
☐ Great. [so and so] will be a good candidate for this opportunity and I will pass on the information ☐ YES! I have been waiting for such opportunity for a long time. I will go for it.
